How Academic Leaders Can Address Faculty and Staff Burnout

David Attis
Managing Director
dattis@eab.com
1. What Is Burnout?

2. Discussion: How Is Burnout Manifesting in Your Unit?

3. What Can Academic Leaders Do About Burnout?

4. Discussion: What Have You Tried? What Has Worked/ Not Worked?

5. Individual Exercise: What Will You Commit To Doing This Academic Year?
What Is Burnout?
UNM Gauges Enduring COVID-19 Impacts on Faculty

The University of New Mexico Surveyed Full-Time Faculty in Spring 2022

Key Survey Logistics

Goal: Determine impacts of COVID-19 on full-time faculty at UNM

Team: Faculty and staff working to create sustainable climate changes for increased success of women and minority faculty

Timeline: Online responses collected April 30-May 18

Respondents: 343 Full-time UNM faculty in Spring 2022

---

Sample Questions:

- Compared to semesters prior to the COVID-19 pandemic, how much time did you spend on [Childcare, Adult Caregiving] in Spring 2022?
- After work, I need more time than in the past to relax/feel better.
- Lately, I think less at work and do my job almost mechanically.
- Overall, to what extent has the COVID-19 pandemic negatively effected your Spring 2022 semester with regard to satisfaction with work?

---

Further Reading on Caregiving

Supporting Faculty and Staff Caregivers Whitepaper

Source: University of New Mexico, COVID-19 Pandemic Impact Report (Dec 2022); EAB interviews and analysis.
The pandemic negatively affected my work in Spring 2022 with respect to...

N = 343 University of New Mexico Faculty

- Satisfaction with work: 84%
- Motivation at work: 83%
- Burnout at work: 69%
- Considering leaving UNM: 47%
- Lack of engagement at work: 35%

Struggling Beneath the Surface

“[T]o everyone around me, I look like I am successful and managing to balance work and life. I feel, on the other hand, like crying most days and I think about leaving this university more and more often lately.”

UNM Faculty Member

Source: University of New Mexico, COVID-19 Pandemic Impact Report (Dec 2022)
Finding the Most Useful Frame for the Study

Why We Chose to Focus on Burnout

Mental Health
Exhaustion
Change Fatigue
Work-Life Balance
Trauma
Engagement
Languishing

Burnout

Morale
Productivity
Well-being
Quiet Quitting
What Is Burnout?

“Burnout is a prolonged response to chronic emotional and interpersonal stressors on the job, and is defined by three dimensions of exhaustion, cynicism, and inefficacy.”

Maslach et al. “Job Burnout” (2001)

Exhaustion
- Extreme fatigue
- Lack of energy
- Emotional exhaustion

Cynicism
- Loss of idealism and passion
- Feelings of depersonalization
- Detachment from the job

Inefficacy
- Sense of ineffectiveness
- Lack of accomplishment
- Loss of control over work conditions

Source: https://doi.org/10.1146/annurev.psych.52.1.397
Maslach’s Six Drivers of Burnout

- Workload
- Control
- Reward
- Fairness
- Community
- Values

Source: Maslach et al. "Job Burnout (2001); EAB interviews and analysis."
The increased workload and anxiety is something I don’t think non-teachers can quite grasp...for me...to teach effectively and thoughtfully requires about twice the time, and there’s a constant sense you’re never doing enough.”

- Dr. Louis MacKenzie, Associate Professor, University of Washington

Source: "On the Verge of Burnout"; EAB interviews and analysis.
Burnout Driver #2: Control

Characteristics

- Insufficient control over the resources needed
- Lack of authority to pursue the work in what they believe is the most effective manner

Examples of Control Drivers in the Academic Affairs Workplace:

- Increasing pressure on faculty to accommodate at the same rate as they did during the pandemic
- Increasing influence of outside entities, such as mandates imposed by federal, state, and local government
- Perceived ‘erosion of shared governance’
- Obligations to adapt course format to fit evolving student preferences and needs

Students Demand Endless Flexibility — but Is It What They Need?

Florida bill would end diversity programs, ban majors, shift power at universities

Source: Chronicle of Higher Education; Education; Tampa Bay Times; EAB interviews and analysis.
Burnout Driver #3: Reward

Characteristics

- Insufficient financial rewards
- Lack of social recognition or reinforcement
- Reduced sense of purpose, fulfillment, and direction

Examples of Reward Drivers in the Academic Affairs Workplace:

- Growing student disengagement erodes sense of meaning and accomplishment in the faculty role
- Opportunities to achieve career growth seem less and less accessible or achievable
- Failure of compensation to keep pace with inflation
- Perception that trustees, voters, many politicians do not value faculty work

Source: Inside Higher Ed; The Chronicle of Higher Education; The NEA Higher Education Journal; EdSurge; EAB interviews and analysis.
Burnout Driver #4: Fairness

Characteristics

• Lack of perceived fairness in the workplace (such as inequity in workload or pay, inappropriate handling of promotions or evaluations)

Examples of Fairness Drivers in the Academic Affairs Workplace:

• Increasing evidence of workload and compensation inequity

• Bias in faculty evaluation, promotion and tenure processes

• Greater budget pressure and transparency highlight funding differences between disciplines

• Disparate impacts of the pandemic on faculty groups – e.g., disproportionately set back the research of faculty who needed access to a lab

Faculty of color are more likely to take on full slates of service, including large advising loads and sitting on numerous committees. These high service workloads often go unrecognized and undercompensated and can get in the way of promotion and tenure for BIPOC faculty.

- Joshua Ddamulira, Senior Analyst, EAB

Source: EAB; EAB interviews and analysis.
Burnout Driver #5: Community

Characteristics
- Loss of sense of positive connection with others in the workplace
- Chronic and unresolved conflict with others on the job

Examples of Community Drivers in the Academic Affairs Workplace:
- Faculty lost connection in a virtual world and that sense of connection has not fully renewed since the pandemic
- Time spent on campus is packed with student meetings, teaching courses, committee work – leaving less time for connecting with colleagues
- Struggling to find time for formal and informal mentorship opportunities

Faculty Who Agreed the Pandemic Negatively Affected Them in Spring 2022 with Respect To:

- 96% Networking opportunities
- 90% Fostering new collaborations

Source: University of New Mexico, COVID-19 Pandemic Impact Report (Dec 2022); EAB interviews and analysis.
Burnout Driver #6: Values

Characteristics

• People feel constrained by the job to do things that are not in accord with their own values
• Discrepancy between the lofty mission statement and actual practice

Examples of Values Drivers in the Academic Affairs Workplace:

• Pressure to be more accommodating to students even if that does not lead to greater student success outcomes
• Perception that the university acts more like a corporation than a mission-driven institution
• Over-reliance on educational mission as a benefit or justification for longer hours
• Legislation in conflict with personal values

“There is some sense that there is the espoused values of our institutions and then the enacted values, and that there isn’t perfect alignment between those two...institutions are falling short when it comes to really being able to provide evidence...what it has suggested to some folks is that there is a real values conflict.”

- Kevin McClure, Associate Professor, UNC Wilmington

Source: Inside Higher Ed; EAB interviews and analysis.
Staff and Faculty Experiences Differ

Staff Feel Like Second-Class Citizens

- Perspectives, input often ignored or deprioritized in decision making
- Lack of recognition, respect for their expertise and mission contributions
- Meager recruitment packages, fewer benefits (e.g., limited university housing)
- Main targets for budget, workforce reductions

Faculty Feel Excluded and Devalued

- Loss of trust, confidence in shared governance as a result of pandemic decision-making
- Heightened workloads, chronic change fatigue after COVID experience
- Absorbed additional student support responsibilities (e.g., well-being)
- Received lower service quality, less staff support amid shortages

Source: EAB interviews and analysis.
Can We Win on Mission Amid “Crisis of Meaning?”

Higher Ed Should Appeal to Employees Seeking Purposeful Work...

66%
Of employees said COVID-19 has caused them to reflect on their purpose in life

56%
Of employees said the pandemic has made them want to contribute more to society

50%
Of employees are reconsidering the kind of work they do because of the pandemic

...But “Mission-Based Gaslighting” Raises Skepticism, Reduces Appeal

Profile of a Higher Ed Expatriate

Marci Walton

13 years working in residential life
Left higher ed in spring 2021 for private sector

Stop saying things like, ‘What did you expect to get paid? You work in education!’...By using the mission to make your staff members feel ridiculous for asking for a raise or better benefits, you are shutting down legitimate concerns.

Source: Gartner, Employees Seek Personal Value and Purpose at Work. Be Prepared to Deliver; McKinsey, Help your employees find purpose—or watch them leave; The Chronicle of Higher Education, Right Now, Your Best Employees Are Eyeing the Exits; EAB interviews and analysis.
The #1 Source of Staff Dissatisfaction

Staff Are Less Satisfied With Career Opportunities Than Compensation...

To what extent do you agree with the following statements regarding your place of work?1

- I have advancement opportunities
- My development is invested in
- I am paid fairly
- I am recognized for contributions
- I recommend my institution to others
- I feel a sense of belonging
- I can raise issues
- I recommend my unit to others
- I am valued by others
- Work has a purpose
- I am safe from COVID-19
- I am safe from violence
- Work has a purpose
- I am valued by others
- I feel a sense of belonging
- I can raise issues
- I recommend my unit to others
- I am recognized for contributions
- I am paid fairly
- My development is invested in
- I have advancement opportunities

- Agree/Strongly Agree
- Disagree/Strongly Disagree

- 84 - 6
- 77 - 2
- 73 - 3
- 67 - 17
- 66 - 18
- 65 - 19
- 64 - 19
- 60 - 20
- 55 - 24
- 39 - 45
- 37 - 39
- 29 - 46

...Yet Few Institutions Are Investing Here

EAB’s Talent Questionnaire2

20%

Of institutions have tried to create structured staff career paths since July 2021

38%

Of institutions have launched zero staff career development initiatives since July 2021

Source: CUPA-HR, The CUPA-HR 2022 Higher Education Employee Retention Survey: Initial Results (2022); EAB’s Talent Questionnaire (2022); EAB interviews and analysis.

1) n=3,815.
2) n=77.

Hint: It’s Not Compensation

©2023 by EAB. All Rights Reserved. eab.com
Discussion

How Is Burnout Manifesting In Your Unit?

• What are the biggest pressures on your faculty or staff?
• How are they expressing their frustrations?
• How does this get in the way of achieving your unit goals?
What Can Academic Leaders Do About Burnout?
Tip of the Iceberg?

UNM Recommendations Hinge on Systemic Change

1. Resources to support productivity in scholarship and creative works
2. Training and rewards for mentoring students and colleagues
3. Communicate and adapt faculty performance expectations and evaluation processes
4. Track changes that might impact childcare and explore additional options
5. Design opportunities for informal faculty interactions
6. Make visible and evaluate programs that promote faculty well-being and work-life balance
7. Raise awareness of resources to assist with student academic needs and well-being
8. Help faculty and staff navigate the application process for ADA accommodations

Source: University of New Mexico, COVID-19 Pandemic Impact Report (Dec 2022); EAB interviews and analysis.
What Can You Do About It?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Driver</th>
<th>What the Provost and Deans Cannot Do</th>
<th>What the Provost and Deans Can Do</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Workload</td>
<td>Reduce total workload</td>
<td>Clarify workload expectations and support balanced loads</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Control</td>
<td>Give the faculty control over all major decisions</td>
<td>Engage faculty in decision-making</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reward</td>
<td>Increase compensation across the board</td>
<td>Work towards equity in compensation and workloads</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Community</td>
<td>Eliminate departmental conflict</td>
<td>Provide training and support for chairs to address conflict</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fairness</td>
<td>Fund all departments at their desired level</td>
<td>Introduce transparency into resource allocation decisions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Values</td>
<td>Fight off all political attacks on higher education</td>
<td>Clarify where the university stands on critical social issues, defend faculty who are publicly attacked</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
A major step toward eliminating burnout from the culture of higher ed is acknowledging that only systemic cultural changes will make a significant difference. Most of the reporting on burnout offers suggestions targeting individuals rather than the culture that led to the problem. Because burnout is endemic to higher education, individual interventions will not make a dent in the academic culture.

- Rebecca Pope-Ruark, Unraveling Faculty Burnout

Source: Unraveling Faculty Burnout; EAB interviews and analysis.
Culture of Well-Being Is a Framework for Change

U.S. Surgeon General Releases New Framework for Workplace Well-Being

October 2022
U.S. Surgeon General Releases New Framework for Mental Health and Well-Being in the Workplace

“As we recover from the worst of the pandemic, we have an opportunity and the power to make workplaces engines for mental health and well-being, and this Surgeon General’s Framework shows us how we can start.”

- Surgeon General Dr. Vivek Murthy

Source: The Chronicle of Higher Education; U.S. Surgeon General; EAB interviews and analysis.
Communicate the Importance of Faculty Well-Being
Your Role in Supporting Faculty Well-Being

Faculty Well-Being Priority Areas

- Lead by example and use communication best-practices to facilitate a culture of well-being
- Identify opportunities to make systemic adjustments in academic affairs to benefit faculty well-being
- Upskill managers to encourage faculty well-being support on a local level
- Equip department heads with resources to foster supportive department workplace environments
- Surface faculty well-being support needs and possible solutions to senior leaders and HR leaders

Priority Areas Where Academic Leaders Have High-Impact

- Develop interventions aimed at reducing health risks and costs by promoting healthy lifestyles
- Implement screening activities to identify health risks
- Determine employee benefits

HR Is the Primary Owner, Academic Leaders Have Low-Impact
Clarify Well-Being Expectations of Leaders

NYU’s Reference Sheet Communicates Well-Being’s Value in the Workplace

Best Practices for Managers, Department Chairs, and Leaders

Empathy and consideration for those we manage has never been more important. There is an increased need for managerial emotional intelligence—to lead with compassion, empathy and trust. Incorporating a work-life perspective into your role can lead to better personal and professional integration for those you manage. Learning how to listen and point to helpful and supportive resources for professional, family, and personal needs will result in less stress for all and a more positive work culture.

Start with yourself! The more you seek to create healthy work-life habits in your life, the easier it will be for you to understand and incorporate good practices with those you manage. Identify your work-life challenges and take small steps to address them.

Sets the tone regarding well-being and its importance in work culture

Articulates high-level expectations for empathy and support among leaders

Outlines simple best practices to help leaders provide effective support

Source: NYU; EAB interviews and analysis.
Section #1: Promote Well-Being as a Divisional Leader

Just-in-Time Prompts to Reinforce Well-Being

Plan Ahead to Ensure Well-Being Messaging Is Consistent and Timely

Build an Annual Communication Plan to Keep Well-Being Top of Mind

Common Actions to Promote Well-Being

Events
Attend campus well-being events to show support for initiatives

Email Reminders
Emails from the Provost’s office about well-being resources for faculty

Forums
Listen to well-being concerns at a faculty forum

 Guidance for Next Steps

Use EAB’s Annual Well-Being Communication Planning Activity to map well-being promotion next steps to key moments throughout the year

August Email well-being resources

October Attend a well-being event

January Resource email reminder

March Coffee chat series
Provide Resources to Faculty to Help Each Other
Take the Guesswork Out of In-the-Moment Support

Orange Folder Helps Colleagues Recognize Distress and Start a Conversation

Prioritizes Supportive Conversations

“Listen actively, ask open ended questions and help them feel heard and understood.”

Elevates Resources for Faculty and Staff in Distress

“Early intervention plays a key role in creating healthy and respectful work environments.”

Provides Explicit Advice on What to Do If a Colleague Does Not Want to Help

“Respect their decision. Accepting assistance must be left up to the individual, except in emergencies.”

Orange Folder

- Recognize signs of distress
- Respond with concern and empathy
- Refer your colleague to available resources
- If a colleague does not want help

Source: UBC Orange Folder; EAB interviews and analysis.
Support Chairs in Addressing Faculty Well-Being
Managers Make or Break the Employee Experience

Deans and Chairs Relied on to Shape Workplace Culture

Manager Influence by the Numbers

75% Of employees who voluntarily left their jobs said it was because of their manager, not the job itself.

70% Of the variance in employee engagement scores are accounted for by managers.

When Management Goes Well...

Those who feel supported by their employer are...

- More likely to have positive views of their workplace and its leaders
- Less likely to underperform and miss work
- More satisfied with their job and more likely to stay
- Less likely to experience mental health symptoms

Leaders Expect This Support to Come from Deans and Chairs

79% Of academic leaders feel deans and chairs are responsible for ensuring faculty are supported, engaged, and connected.

Source: Forbes; 2022 Survey of College and University Chief Academic Officers; EAB interviews and analysis.
Section #2: Upskill Chairs to Better Support Emerging Needs

A Preparedness Gap Among Leaders

Results in Varying Experiences with Well-Being Support across Departments

Difficulty recruiting faculty to leadership

“There just isn’t a long list of people waiting to serve as head; it is a challenging role. Most faculty just want to focus on their teaching and research and will need support for this new role.”

Simon Bates, Provost, UBC

Some leaders dislike “touchy-feely” work

“Some chairs just think the touchy-feely stuff is a bunch of bologna.”

Michael McPherson, Provost, UNT

Top Topic-Areas Covered for Chairs

1. Resource Allocation and Budgeting
2. Legal Issues
3. Promotion and Tenure

Top Topic-Areas Needed for Chairs

1. Evaluation of Faculty Performance
2. Maintaining a Healthy Work Climate
3. Obtaining and Managing External Funds

Source: Inside Higher Ed; EAB interviews and analysis.

Training for New Chairs Often Sparse

67% Of chairs receive no formal training from their institution

2 in 3 Chairs with training said it did not prepare them adequately

©2023 by EAB. All Rights Reserved. eab.com
Small Shifts in Listening Habits Go a Long Way

Leverage Productive Listening Techniques to Demonstrate Compassion

Habits that Lead to Unproductive Listening:

- Avoiding questions that open a can of worms
- Only hearing the “squeaky wheel”
- Focusing response on surface-level concerns

Results of Unproductive Listening

- Compassion fatigue
- Concern about support needs is perceived as disingenuous

Tips to Bolster Productive Listening

- Take time to reflect during and after listening sessions
- Hear the “squeak” and look for the broken axle
- Communicate what you can do and clarify what might be outside of your scope of control
- Validate emotion and empathize

Counterintuitive Signs You’re Listening Well

- Asking more questions
- Getting more complaints

Source: EAB interviews and analysis.
UBC Helps Leaders Prepare for Complex Challenges

Leadership Challenge Simulator Encourages Leaders to Fine-Tune Approach

Section #2: Upskill Chairs to Better Support Emerging Needs

The University of British Columbia’s Campus Resource Treasure Hunt

Convenes resource experts from across campus and 30+ new academic leaders participating in the Academic Leadership Development Program (ALDP)

Academic leaders receive realistic leadership challenge case studies

Scenarios must be addressed by consulting with resource experts

Offered annually since 2014

Facilitators: The Director of the Academic Leadership Development Program and the Director of Faculty Relations

---

Case Study Examples

Faculty and Staff Morale in Your Unit
- Overburdened workload complaints
- Recent wave of staff resignations

PR and Freedom of Speech
- Professor wrote controversial op-ed
- Now receiving threats and hate mail

Conflict and Power Dynamics
- Untenured faculty member concerns over tenure prospects due to committee involvement
- Classroom environment amid student protests

Indigenous Scholar Feels Marginalized
- Has received inappropriate comments
- Tenure-eligible, but considering leaving
- Inequitable service workload

Source: EAB interviews and analysis.
UBC’s Campus Resource Treasure Hunt In Action

Academic Leaders Consult with Experts in Real Time and Propose Solutions

Section #2: Upskill Chairs to Better Support Emerging Needs

Leader Receive Scenarios

Step 1
Leaders are split into teams. Groups have 20 minutes to discuss cases and create a plan using provided directions:

- List issues in scenario
- Identify information needed
- Determine which resources may be helpful
- Keep notes to summarize for full group at the end

Step 2
Teams have 1 hour to consult with campus experts

- Faculty Relations
- University Counsel
- Human Resources
- Equity & Inclusion
- Office of the VP, Students
- Media Relations

Step 3
Teams present their plans to address the case:

- New academic leaders receive feedback from campus experts

Activity concludes with reflection exercise:

- Leaders discuss their experience and what they learned through the activity
- Concluding remarks reiterate top learning objectives

Source: EAB interviews and analysis.
Bring Greater Transparency and Equity to Faculty Workload
Section #2: Upskill Chairs to Better Support Emerging Needs

The Invisible Labor Problem

Upskill Chairs to Enhance Performance Evaluation

Tip of the Iceberg: Department Chairs Only Aware of Tracked Labor

Visible Labor Rewarded in Tenure Process
Core research, teaching, service activities are tracked in university systems

Invisible Labor Goes Unseen and Unrewarded
Without tracking systems, department chairs struggle to provide proactive guidance about non-teaching and research activities that could lead to burnout

Source: EAB interviews and analysis.
Excerpted Associate/Full Professor Rubric

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Teaching/ Mentoring</th>
<th>Research</th>
<th>Service</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Below Expectations</td>
<td>• Teach less than 5.5 courses per year</td>
<td>• 0-1 peer reviewed publications per year</td>
<td>• Chair 0 department and/or other committees</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meets Expectations</td>
<td>• Teach 5.5 courses per year</td>
<td>• 2 peer reviewed publications per year</td>
<td>• Chair 1 department committee</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Above Expectations</td>
<td>• Teach more than 5.5 courses per year</td>
<td>• 3 or more peer reviewed publications per year</td>
<td>• Chair 2 department and/or other committees</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Far Exceeds Expectations</td>
<td>• Teach more than 6.5 courses per year</td>
<td>• 4 or more peer reviewed publications per year in top tier journals</td>
<td>• Chair 3 department and/or other committees</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Role-specific rubric provides necessary context
Grouping creates clear understanding across responsibilities
Concrete numbers and specific activities make expectations concrete
Full view of levels provides snapshot of what faculty workload can, and should, look like
Faculty Service Audit

Faculty Service Expectations

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Role</th>
<th>Expectations</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Assistant Professors</td>
<td>• Serve on 2 college/university or department committees</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Tenured Associate/Full Professors | • Chair 1 department committee
                                  | • Serve on 2 other college/university or department committees             |
| Instructional Faculty       | • Chair 1 department committee
                                  | • Serve on 3 or more other college/university or department committees     |

Please identify which service roles you are playing this year that continue into the following academic year.

Please check boxes of any service roles you would prefer to play in the future. We encourage all faculty to check at least some boxes.

- [x] Merit Review Committee
- [ ] Curriculum Review
- [ ] Budget & Planning
- [ ] Admissions & Fellowships
- [ ] Workload Committee
- [ ] Rep to University Senate
- [ ] Rep to College Senate
- [ ] Research & Grants
- [ ] IRB Representative

Are you interested in chairing any committees? If so, which ones?

---

Source: UMD; EAB interviews and analysis.
Strengthening Your Talent Pipeline From Within

Six Career Mobility Strategies With Corporate and Higher Ed Case Studies

1. Internal Mobility Policies & Procedures
2. Coaching-Focused Management Training & Expectations
3. Structured & Time-Bound Rotations

4. Succession Planning & Development for Non-Executives
5. Latticed Career Pathways
6. Internal Marketplace for Talent Matching

Resource Investment

- Self-Service L&D Resources
- Skills-Based Training Courses
- Career Workshops

- Professional Development Funds
- Leadership Development Programs
- Mentorship Programs

Source: EAB interviews and analysis.

©2023 by EAB. All Rights Reserved. eab.com
105 Tactics to Improve Employee Engagement

Download the EAB Infographic

- Compensation-Centered Recognition
- Flexible Work Arrangements
- PTO Policies
- Professional Development
- Manager Training and Upskilling
- Performance Reviews
- Welcoming Working Culture
- Employee Perks and Fringe Benefits
- Family-Centric Benefits
- Health Benefits

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Welcoming Working Culture</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Discussion

What Have You Already Tried to Address Burnout?

• What Has Worked?
• What Has Not Worked?
Individual Exercise
1. Which aspects of burnout do you feel are the most urgent for you to address within your unit this academic year?

2. Which of the potential approaches that are within your control do you believe are most likely to positively impact your faculty and/or staff?

3. What is the top approach that you plan to focus on this academic year?

4. What support would you need in order to implement your proposed approach?

5. What is the next concrete step you would need to take in order to get this started?

6. How will you know if your approach is having an impact?